The Cambridge Guide to Women's Writing in English Lorna Sage, 1999-09-30 This Guide aims to consolidate and epitomise the re-reading of women's writing that has gone on in the last twenty-five years. This is an opportunity for stock-taking a timely project when so much writing has been rediscovered, reclaimed and republished. There are entries on writers on individual texts and on general terms, genres and movements, all printed in a single alphabetical sequence. The earliest written documents in medieval English, the visionary writings of Julian of Norwich and Margery Kempe, are covered in an historical and geographical sweep that takes us up to the present day. The book reflects the spread of literacy, the history of colonisation and the development of post-colonial cultures using and changing the English language. The entries are written by contributors from all the countries covered. The result is a work of reference with a unique feeling for the vitality, wealth and diversity of women's writing.

The Bookman, 1901 A Companion to Mia Couto Grant Hamilton, David Paul Huddart, 2016 This new research in English on the work of the Mozambican writer Mia Couto provides a comprehensive introduction to the critical terrain of Couto's literary thought. Already well established in the Lusophone world, Mia Couto is increasingly acknowledged as a major voice in World literature. Winner of the Camões Prize for Literature in 2013, the most prestigious literary prize honouring Lusophone writers, he was awarded the Neustadt International Prize for Literature in 2014 and in 2015 was shortlisted for the Man Booker International Prize. Yet despite this high profile, there are very few full-length critical studies in English about his writing. Mia Couto is known for his imaginative re-working of Portuguese, making it distinctively Mozambican in character. This book brings together some of the key scholars of his work, such as Phillip Rothwell, Lu's Madureira and his long-time English translator David Brookshaw. Contributors examine not only his early works, which were written in the context of the 16-year post-independence civil war in Mozambique, but also the wide span of Couto's contemporary writing as a novelist, short story writer, poet and essayist. There are contributions on his work in ecology, theatre and journalism, as well as on translation and Mozambican nationalist politics. Most importantly, the contributors engage with the significance of Couto's writing to contemporary discussions of African literature, Lusophone studies and World literature. Grant Hamilton is Associate Professor of English literature at the Chinese University of Hong Kong. He is the editor of Reading Marechera. James Currey, 2013. David Huddart is Associate Professor of English literature at the Chinese University of Hong Kong and is author of Involuntary Associations: World Englishes and Postcolonial Studies Liverpool University Press, 2014. The Dial Francis Fisher Browne,Waldo Ralph Browne,Scotfield Thayer,Marianne Moore,1901 In Praise of New Travelers Isabel Hoving,2001 Approaching postcolonial theory through cultural analysis this book offers an accessible and concrete appraisal of current developments in postcolonial criticism Detailed readings of a range of Anglophone Caribbean migrant women s texts from the late 1980s and 1990s lead to sharp insights into three issues that are crucial to an understanding of the field place voice and silence The discussion of these issues allows us to trace current feminist postmodern and postcolonial debates about the nature of the speaking subject as it is emerging from today s postcolonial cultural practices Postcolonial criticism often understands this subject as hybrid and multiple This book shows how the specifics of this multiplicity must be acknowledged through analysis of the power structures and the violence through which this multiple subject is established The book is also a consistent inquiry into reading positions The argument about the differences between postcolonialist black and Caribbean feminist white feminist and postmodern criticism is conducted as a discussion about the effects insights and blindnesses produced by these different ways of reading Caribbean migrant women s writing Scrutinizing the grain of these texts encourages us to move beyond the kind of general statements for which postcolonial theory has been severely criticized The author also extends her critique of reading positions to issues of methodology using these approaches to direct her interpretation Narratology is supplemented by an analysis of the interdiscursive processes through which texts are created and psychoanalytic concepts are used to explore the ambiguous merits of postcolonial reading Above all In Praise of New Travelers celebrates the vigorous subversive and liberating creativity of an accomplished generation of Caribbean migrant women writers
