Framework For ArabIsraeli Peace:

A Framework for Arab-Israeli Peace Alon Ben-Meir, 1993-01-01 Negotiating Arab-Israeli Peace Laura Zittrain Eisenberg, Neil Caplan, 2025-04-22 Fifteen years since the publication of its second edition this foundational text in the history of Arab Israeli peacemaking endeavors has been updated to include developments from the past twenty five years Thoroughly revised and expanded the third edition of Negotiating Arab Israeli Peace examines the history of recurrent efforts to resolve the Arab Israeli conflict since the 1970s and identifies a pattern of negative negotiating behaviors that repeatedly derail peacemaking efforts In addition to updating all of the book s existing chapters with post 2010 sources and developments authors Eisenberg and Caplan have added new chapters on the Arab Peace Initiative the Annapolis Conference the Kerry mission and the Abraham Accords as well as a conclusion that questions several core notions regarding the nature of the conflict the possibility of its resolution Arab Israeli normalization and the viability of the two state solution An epilogue extends the book s framework into present day crises in the region specifically Hamas s 7 October 2023 attack on Israel and Israel s war against Hamas in Gaza A companion website comprises nine appendices among them 145 primary source documents expanded notes links to websites for maps data and analysis peace activities and additional visual and documentary sources Also online is a robust instructor s guide offering supplementary resources and ideas for assignments research and classroom exercises all of which draw upon and complement the themes running throughout the text By measuring contemporary diplomatic episodes against the historical pattern of counterproductive negotiating habits Negotiating Arab Israeli Peace makes possible a coherent comparison of some eighty years of Arab Israeli negotiations and offers readers a framework with which to assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of peace making attempts past present and future Negotiating Arab-Israeli Peace, Second Edition Laura Zittrain Eisenberg, Neil Caplan, 2010-07-14 Thoroughly updated and expanded this new edition of Negotiating Arab Israeli Peace examines the history of recurrent efforts to resolve the Arab Israeli conflict and identifies a pattern of negative negotiating behaviors that seem to repeatedly derail efforts to achieve peace In a lively and accessible style Laura Zittrain Eisenberg and Neil Caplan examine eight case studies of recent Arab Israeli diplomatic encounters from the Egyptian Israeli peace of 1979 to the beginning of the Obama administration in light of the historical record By measuring contemporary diplomatic episodes against the pattern of counterproductive negotiating habits this book makes possible a coherent comparison of over sixty years of Arab Israeli negotiations and gives readers a framework with which to assess the relative strengths and weaknesses of peace making attempts past present and future Possible Solutions for the Israeli-Palestinian Conflict. Framework of Negotiations for a Hegemonic Coalition Sven Hentschel, 2014-09-30 Research Paper undergraduate from the year 2012 in the subject Politics Topic Peace and Conflict Security grade 1 0 Ewha Womans University Graduate School of International Studies course International Negotiations language English abstract Throughout history there have been many attempts to establish peace between Israel and Palestine but all of these attempts were to no avail This term paper will examine the underlying problem why all these attempts could not lead to a mutually satisfactory solution and will then describe what needs to be done in order to establish a new and sustainable peace agreement between Israel and Palestine To do so this paper firstly illustrates the historical background of previous peace negotiations before describing the complex relationship of Israel and Palestine on an internal regional and external level It will then look at the opposed positions of both parties and illustrates to what extent the model of the Prisoner s Dilemma can explain the situation that both sides are facing Based on these findings ways how to potentially resolve this dilemma will be presented The most promising solution of a Hegemonic Coalition that can put pressure on both parties to negotiate with each other over interests rather than positions will be explained in detail Especially the framework under what conditions the negotiations should take place to avoid mistakes made by the Oslo peace negotiations will be addressed Under consideration of that framework this paper develops a potential solution how the agreement between Israel and Palestine could look like to achieve peace between both parties The Israel Palestine peace process can be seen as a series of attempts to establish a lasting end to the Israeli Palestinian conflict Some of these attempts were more promising than others but until now none of them could establish peace between both parties 6 The decision tree in the appendix Figure 1 helps to give a short overview of the main stages taken towards peace in the region Throughout that paper some of these stages will need to be examined in further detail but for now this overview is sufficient to see that negotiations between both parties continuously failed mainly due to the unstable political environment within Israel and Palestine

Four Arab-Israeli Wars and the Peace Process Sydney D. Bailey,2016-07-27 In focusing on four major wars in the Arab Israeli conflict from 1947 to 1979 all of them ending in agreed ceasefires truces or armistices this book concentrates on the external efforts after each war to help resolve the conflict The Egyptian-Israeli Peace Treaty, March 26, 1979 Egypt,1979

Compensation to Palestinian Refugees and the Search for Palestinian-Israeli Peace Rex Brynen,Roula El-Rifai,2013-02-06 One of the core aspects of the Palestinian refugee question is that of compensation or reparations for Palestinian refugees forcibly displaced by the establishment of Israel The Nakba saw the displacement of 85% of the Palestinian Arab population and the descendants of these displaced peoples numbers almost 5 million Despite the gravity of the situation and the importance of restorative justice many of the complex technical issues compensation would entail have not received adequate attention Applying their expertise and looking at past examples of claims mechanisms a rich variety of contributors including Palestinian Israeli and international scholars analysts and former officials examine the topic from an array of legal economic and political perspectives Answering questions such as How would property losses be recovered What about displaced persons within Israel What would the Israeli response be to reparations The contributors cast new and important light on the way the issue has been approached in past negotiations the structure of possible compensation regimes and potential challenges and obstacles to implementation Arab-Israeli Peace

Plans for Peace Karen Feste,1991-11-21 Although much has been written about the Arab Israeli conflict and about general theories of negotiation this analysis and history is unique in linking major issues and peace plans to negotiation theory and strategy Feste studies the basic structures of conflict and negotiation offering no suggestions for radical solution but arguing for changes in approach that may bring about steps forward This overview of all major peace efforts since 1947 and of negotiating strategies is intended for undergraduate and graduate courses in conflict resolution Middle Eastern politics and international relations and for the use of political scientists sociologists students and teachers concerned with ethnoconflict The text analyzes the framework of the Arab Israeli conflict how it has built up and how it has been maintained The structure of the negotiation process is then viewed in the same way Key elements in the Arab Israeli conflict are considered historically and related directly to the process of negotiation and to theories about positional and principled bargaining and tactics needed in a pre negotiation period and during negotiation to produce more successful results
